Participant Support Costs

January 23, 2012

Background
Some sponsors include a budget category called participant support costs. Generally, this category is used for conference or training proposals and not in research proposals for general travel to conferences or to bring collaborators together to meet and discuss the project, unless directed by agency written instructions. Funds provided for participant support may not be used by grantees for other categories of expense without the specific prior written approval of the sponsoring agency.

Who is a Participant?
A participant is a non-Mason employee who is a recipient of a service or training session associated with a workshop, conference, seminar, symposium or other information sharing activity funded by a sponsored award. Graduate assistants receive a W-2 from the university and therefore are treated as a Mason employee under this definition. Participants do not perform work or services for the project or program other than for their own benefit. These participants are not required to deliver anything or provide any service to the university in return for these support costs.

What are Participant Support Costs?
Participant support costs are direct costs for items such as participant allowance, supplies, per diem, travel costs and or registration fees paid to or on behalf of participants in connection with meetings, conferences, symposia or training projects.

Participant support cost payments are limited to the following types of expenses:
- Event registration fees
- Transportation to/from the event
- Meals and incidental expenses
- Event support costs for lodging and food expenses paid directly to the event facility, only if the payment is made on behalf of, or reimbursed directly to, the participant

Participant support costs DO NOT include the following types of expenses:
- Event support costs, such as facility rentals, media rentals, charters for transportation, or event food, except as allowed under the conditions described in the section above
- Research subject payments to individuals participating in a research studies (Research subject payments are included in a separate budget line item.)
- Reimbursement for travel or other support costs of PI and other Mason faculty and staff involved in the project
- Reimbursement to the participant’s employer to defray costs, including substitute teachers, related to sending the participant to the event

Award Set-up Process
If an award includes funding for participant supports costs, OSP will establish separate funds for both the primary and participant support portions of the project in Banner. The participant support portion of the award is set up as a separate fund in order to meet any requirements to account for these costs separately, restrict budget changes and avoid charging F&A (only if participant costs are excluded from F&A per sponsor policy, otherwise, F&A will be assessed). If the award is solely for participant costs, only one fund will be set up.
